PRESIDENTS COME AND GO The magnificent Mayon rising over rain clouds in a photo taken from Oxampo, Camarines Sur, is forever there keeping its magnificence, rain or shine, in fair and bad weather, in political upheavals or stability, in war and peace. And even as presidents come and go.

Roxas insists on null votes

But Binay camp says no way

By Philip C. Tubeza and Kristine L. Alave

THE SO-CALLED NULL votes could reach as high as 3 million.

And the camp of Sen. Mar Roxas II, who is struggling to wrest the lead from Makati Mayor Jejomar Binay in a tight vice presidential race, yesterday demanded that these votes be counted.

The Commission on Elections (Comelec), however, said if votes were considered null, they couldn't be counted even if Roxas filed a protest case and secured an order to count votes manually from the Presidential Electoral Tribunal, the venue for protest cases arising from the presidential and vice presidential elections.

"You can't count votes that are not there," said Election Commissioner Gregorio Larrazabal.

Lawyer Joey Tanalvacia, deputy national coordinator of the group Aquino-Roxas Bantay Balota (ARBB), estimated that up to 3 million votes would be wasted if the Comelec continued to refuse to canvass 2.6 million null votes and 300,000 votes that were not tallied in certificates of canvass

Here's how the dialogue went. Noy: "Do you know me?" Elijah: "Yes. I know you're Noynoy. I see you in the commercials. Where's President Cory? Is she dead?" Noy: "Yeah, she's in heaven. She's praying for all of us."

Congress to Noy: Don't be away for long

By Philip C. Tubeza and Christine O. Avendaño

SEN. BENIGNO AQUINO III, WHO IS on a short break, has been asked not to be "away for long."

Senate Majority Leader Juan Miguel Zubiri yesterday said that Aquino would have to be back in Congress on Monday for his possible proclamation as the winner of the May 10 presidential election.

Aquino, who led in unofficial tallies by the Commission on Elections and has a wide margin over his closest rival, is on a six-day break that will end on Sunday.

"Barring any unforeseen events or acts of God, we will have a new president before Independence Day," Zubiri told the Inquirer.

He said the joint congressional canvassing committee would seek to finish the counting of votes for president and vice president by tomorrow.

"I can't make promises, but our best effort is to complete our job by Thursday evening and proclaim winners next week," Zubiri said.

Aquino and Makati Mayor Jejomar Binay continued to lead in the canvassing of the votes for the top two elective posts.

The canvassing committee yesterday finished the counting of votes from the certificates of canvass (CoCs) of 10 provinces as of 9:14 p.m., bringing the total CoCs canvassed so far to 207.

Congress now fussing over 1,600 extra flash cards

By Leila B. Salaverria and Norman Bordadora

THERE SEEMS TO BE NO END TO ISsues hounding the country's first automated elections, with lawmakers raising a ruckus yesterday over the discovery of extra compact flash (CF) cards delivered to provinces before the elections.

But officials of the Commission on Elections (Comelec) explained that there was no reason to make a fuss, since the extra, blank CF cards were deployed as part of a contingency plan in case the cards inside the voting machines, or the DEFENSE SECRETARY NORBERTO Gonzales is disappointed that he is leaving the Armed Forces of the Philippines with only the purchase of a number of brand-new helicopters from Poland as a done deal.

Gonzales yesterday told reporters in an interview at Camp Aguinaldo that his seven-month stint at the Department of National Defense (DND) allowed him to merely work out memorandums of understanding with at least five foreign governments for the acquisition of military weapons.

Gonzales disclosed two months ago that he was engaged in talks with the governments of Canada, France, Italy, Israel and South Korea who, he said, were offering the AFP long-range patrol aircraft, among others.

At around that time, presidential candidate Benigno Aquino III warned foreign governments and suppliers against entering into "midnight deals" with President Macapagal-Arroyo's administration.

He said that if elected, he would scrap these contracts if these were found disadvantageous to the government.

Inconvenient truth: Gores split after 40 years

NASHVILLE, TENNESSEE—FORMER US Vice President and current antiglobal warming campaigner Al Gore once claimed his romance with wife Tipper inspired the novel "Love Story."

The couple also shared an uncomfortably long kiss before millions on the stage of the 2000 Democratic National Convention.

Now, after a 40-year marriage that survived the near-death of a child and the heartache of losing the disputed 2000 presidential elections, the former high school sweethearts are calling it quits.

Not Lapu-Lapu? Pampanga claims 1st RP martyr

By Tonette Orejas
Inquirer Central Luzon

CITY OF SAN FERNANDO—WHEN Sen. Lito Lapid, a Kapampangan, played the role of warrior chieftain Lapu-Lapu in a movie in 2002, Cebuanos did not lift a finger.

Now that Kapampangans are asserting that one of their own, Tarik Soliman, is the first Filipino freedom martyr, will Cebuanos mind this attempt to correct history?

"Tarik Soliman passed the ultimate test of patriotism, which is martyrdom," said Robby Tantingco, executive director of the Center for Kapampangan Studies (CKS).

The CKS, which is based at Holy Angel University in Angeles City, relied on the accounts of Fray Gaspar de San Agustin in "Conquistas de las Islas Filipinas" and Joaquin Martinez de Zuñiga in "Historia de las Islas Philipinas" in asserting Soliman's place in history.

For another, Tantingco said, the Battle of Bangkusay in Tondo, where Soliman died on June 3, 1571, has "more historical significance" than

Katotohanan at Katarungan

Una sa lahat, nagpapasalamat tayo sa Iglesia ni Cristo, El Shaddai, KABAKA, Parish Councils, Muslim Communities, Baptist Church, Evangelical Church, Barangay Officials, NGOs, Kababaihan, Kabataan, mga Volunteers at lahat ng Manilenyong sumuporta sa atin noong nakaraang eleksyon.

Para sa kaalaman ng lahat, tayo ay naghain ng protesta sa Commission on Elections dahil sa mga pangyayari na sa ating pananaw ay hindi nagpapakita ng tunay na saloobin ng mga Manilenyo.

ITO ANG MGA PANGYAYARING ATING NATUKLASAN AT GINAWA NA DAPAT NINYONG MALAMAN:

- April 26, 2010 - Nagpunta sa ating tanggapan si Romilda Reluya, isang empleyado ng Electronics Data Processing unit sa ilalim ng tanggapan ng Alkalde ng Maynila upang ireport na may mga abogado ng City Legal Office na nag-e-encode ng mga election results gamit ang mga computer sa kanilang opisina at itina-transmit sa di matukoy na lugar.

- April 27, 2010 - Isiniwalat natin sa isang press conference ang mga nakita ni Ms. Reluya at sumulat tayo kay Comelec Chairman Jose Melo tungkol dito. Subalit wala tayong natanggap na sagot.

- April 29, 2010 - Naghain tayo ng Petition for Disqualification laban kay Mayor Alfredo Lim. Muli, wala tayong natanggap na kasagutan o aksyon mula sa Comelec.

- May 10, 2010 - Hindi ginawa ang Random Manual Audit na probisyon ng batas. Nakatuklas tayo ng mga Election Returns kung saan ang petsa ng halalan ay mas maaga kaysa May 10 tulad ng April 28, May 1, May 5 at May 9; at natapos ang halalan sa loob lamang ng anim na segundo, na hanggang ngayon ay hindi maipaliwanag at isinasantabi lamang ng Comelec at Smartmatic.

- May 17, 2010 - Pormal tayong naghain ng Election Protest sa Comelec.

Halimbawa ng ER na may petsang April 28,2010

Hinihingi natin sa Comelec na magkaroon ng manual counting ng mga boto sa Maynila dahil ang binilang ng PCOS machines ay malamang na mga manipulated results. Ito ay ginagawa natin hindi para sa ating pansariling kapakanan, kundi para mabigyan ng katarungan ang mga Manilenyong nagsakripisyong pumila ng mahabang oras para makaboto, at para sa bawat Pilipino na may paniniwala pa rin sa malinis na halalan!

Marunong tayong tumanggap ng pagkatalo kung naaayon sa katotohanan ang naging resulta ng halalan, subalit hindi tayo maaaring mag-concede hangga't hindi natin nababatid ang katotohanan.

Patuloy na nagmamahal sa inyo, sa Maynila at sa Bayan,

LIGHT, NUTRITIOUS and cholesterol-free, tofu is always your best bet in a healthy diet.

So, even if you're not health-conscious, this simple, quick tofu recipe makes an interesting addition to any good family meal.

Lamosan Tofu combines the unique taste of mayonnaise and soy sauce, flavored with calamansi juice and made spicy with green finger pepper.

"The finger pepper here is very pronounced," says Jackie Manigsin, who runs a catering business called Grandma Nita's Lutong Bahay (tels. [illegible]). "Simply adjust the portion if you prefer a milder version."

It only takes a few minutes to gently fry the tofu cubes until it turns into a rich, smooth fare.

Manigsin has been preparing this dish for two years now and it's been one of her best-selling items on the menu, including her tofu pesto pasta [illegible].

"Cooking for us is an art of giving—to ourselves and to our valued clients," says Manigsin. "What's essential is knowing something made by hand and from here. Our recipes are original recipes of Nita Celestino Benitez, matriarch of the Johnny Benitez clan. Grandma Nita would always make sure that the food on the table, whether an ordinary meal or for a special occasion, is sumptuous and delectable."

Manigsin and her cooking staff are trained to handle all sorts of catering, from packed meals to full-fist service.

Tofu can be purchased in most supermarkets either packed with water in sealed plastic containers, or vacuum-packed in plastic without water. Both will do for this recipe.

Ingredients:

2 blocks of tofu
3 onions (chopped)
4 pcs green finger pepper (finger chili), sliced
1 pouch mayonnaise
¼ c soy sauce
3 tbsp cooking oil
3 tbsp calamansi juice
